

SAI 003 - Material Coverage

Regardless stated in AVN 1C AMD, the insurance share of the costs of repairs after the damage covered by insurance is limited to the direct cost of purchasing parts and materials. Expenses for repair or replacement of radio and navigational equipment, flight and engine instruments and the engine and propeller are, however, covered in general terms.

The maximum compensation is 65% of the insurance sum and in case of total loss 65% of the total hull is paid.

The policyholder retains ownership of the aircraft wreckage.
